

Kat Trade

Play dues (1st time 1 every month)

With long hands I hold my partner
 On soulless feet we cross the floor
 The man steps as if to answer
 An empty knock at door
 It seems he shivers as much as mango
 When he's held to my breast
 But now we dance this grim fandango
 And call it love before we rest

fill turkey proster in dirty hookah water

"Wind pinches my hull
An icicle, a needle.
Sweet whispered nothings
"Sail tonight"
A storm.
This deathbed harbour
By love's rusty anchor.
Forever moored."
